1793 report deputed by all the Devon County merchants trading to Nfld, by a number of Manufacturers there, at the request of Plymouth merchants" not immediately concerned in the fishery"

With w^m Newman " by those deputed from Scotland Bristol "and the people generally in the Island of Newfoundland" by the wishes of the merchants of IRELAND from whom he had had frequent application, as well as from people in general not immediately connected with the fishery, knowing its great utility".

ARGUMENTS

1. Since the first establishment of the fishery no laws or regulations have taken place, but from the application of the Traders to Government, before the Act of the 15th of his present majesty, nor were any former laws enacted without the opinion of the traders"

NO trader has applied since 10/11 w^m III "but they now wish that the laws, or rather the customs which were now proved to be beneficial by experience may now be sanctioned by Parliament (those that were usual before 15 Geo III). Those most concerned in the fishery are the most competent judges. (the fishery greatly increased under the old laws-is now declining. all this is due to late laws and oppressive office fees. No further laws (prior to 15 Geo III) are nec to protect anybody in the fishery. "Every description of persons were before that time happy and comfortable in their respective situation" and complain about the french having the best part of the island.

MCHT LOVE OF 10 and II w^m etc

GRAHAM POINT Unless they will be guided by the whole of the Act of part of which they claim to be so fond (which would if carried into execution take the greatest part of their property from them) and not by such parts only as they have thought could be construed in their favour it is in vain for the govt of the country to offer any encouragement to new adventurers"

UGIER

MCHT'S PESSIMISM - typical eg Jeffery 1793 it has seen its best days D^mth mchts on millbanke court "apprehensions of a total destruction of the fishery"

JEFFERY I am resolved to quit the trade as fast as possible from a conviction of its present evils and from apprehension of those still worse consequences which may result from political changes (2nd rept)
