Notes: John Squarry was captain of the vessel 4 Brothers. One of the crew, John Carter, was enticed to go on a Boston vessel, and therefore did not complete the voyage. [The entry is difficult to figure out, but in Prowse's book I found a reference to Boston traders, see pp. 267-268, and so came to a conclusion which is possible, but not necessarily exact. I could not find the exact reference in CO 194/7 (or 8).]
